Downtown Cambridge Vintage and Art Market

Region-cy Tea Party

Put on your finest dress and join us for an afternoon of tea and pleasant company. Dearest Gentle Neighbor, Is there anything truly as wonderful as a well-made cup of tea? Perhaps a cup of tea with pleasant company! It is with the utmost excitement that I announce there is something afoot at Schneider Haus. The whole ton is cordially invited to an afternoon of tea, joyous conversation, and games at Schneider Haus. There are whispers of a tournament of Pall Mall, a challenge to design your own fetching hand fan at the modeste, and a stunning violin performance. The day promises to hold the attention of many among the ton, and this author is sure to be in attendance. Join us from 12:00 pm - 1:30 pm or 2:00 pm - 3:30 pm. Space is limited. Tickets must be purchased in advance for all those attending.

“Along the Grand”: Photography Workshop and Walk with Jason Gennings

Join us for an exciting and fun hands-on photography workshop “Along the Grand” at McDougall Cottage, led by photography instructor and photojournalist, Jason Gennings. This immersive experience kicks off with a brief lecture on composition techniques, setting the stage for a creative journey along the scenic Grand River. Participants will explore downtown Galt, where the natural beauty of the river meets the urban landscape. From flowing water to striking architecture, you’ll discover how these elements come together to create compelling images that tell a story. Along the way, you can expect personalized guidance from Jason, who will be on hand to offer tips, answer questions, and inspire your photographic creativity. Whether you’re a seasoned photographer or just starting out, this is your chance to hone your skills in a supportive and engaging environment. And don’t forget—your photos might just be the perfect entry for the upcoming Grand Inspirations Art Contest <https://www.engagewr>.

Practice Your English

Meet new friends, learn about your community, share your culture and customs, and practice your English. Join us for casual conversation and connection led by experienced and friendly Cambridge Public Library volunteers. Learn Morse Code with Cambridge Amateur Radio

Learn this well-known code used in amateur radio, aviation, and the military. Join members of the Cambridge Amateur Radio Club in an eight-week series of classes that will teach you to use Morse code and some of the history behind it. Morse code, or CW as known among amateur radio operators, is using a combination of short and long 'beeps' of a tone. The number and the combination of short and long 'beeps' will signify a letter. You will be surprised at how quickly you adapt to sense the difference among the various combinations and translate it to a letter, forming words and sentences. Learning Morse code is a great way to challenge your mind and keep it sharp. Amateur Radio (ham radio) is a popular hobby and service that brings people, electronics, and communication together. People use amateur radio to talk across town, around the world, or even into space, all without the Internet or cell phones. It's fun, social, educational, and can be a lifeline during times of need. This program runs

Stitching Science

September 30, 2024 - March 30, 2025 Cambridge Art Galleries' inaugural pop-up exhibition at Idea Exchange, Old Post Office, features the work of Guelph-based artist Lauren Wright Vartanian. Her latest work, Stitching Science, merges art and science in 27 intricate diagrammatic embroideries. A culmination of three years of work and countless stitches, these embroideries, each representing a letter of the alphabet, depict scientific concepts in a creative and accessible way. This exhibition coincides with Wright Vartanian's book release, Stitching Science: Exploring Science from A to Z, published by Firefly Books in the fall of 2024. Lauren Wright Vartanian is a multidisciplinary artist currently focusing on textile art. She has a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drawing and Painting from OCAD University, where she graduated in 2006. She has been creating and selling art under the name Neurons and Nebulas since 2016. Her work blends art and science in a way that is fun and educational, but also be

Arctic Wildlife: Life on Svalbard

View the beauty of the Norwegian Arctic Archipelago of Svalbard. The Norwegian arctic archipelago of Svalbard has more than 2,000 glaciers which provide habitat to hundreds of polar bears. In May, Paul Gains spent nine days aboard a Swedish coast guard vessel sailing around Svalbard's sea ice looking for them. Now he would like to share this extraordinary experience with an audience. Life is harsh in the arctic and polar bears, walrus, and arctic foxes must adapt. Using dozens of photographs, Paul will tell tales of life above 78° North. Paul Gains has traveled the world writing about and photographing its wildlife. Now in his 30th year as a full time freelance journalist, he counts Svalbard as his most gratifying expedition. Stitching Science

September 30, 2024 - March 30, 2025 Cambridge Art Galleries' inaugural pop-up exhibition at Idea Exchange, Old Post Office, features the work of Guelph-based artist Lauren Wright Vartanian. Her latest work, Stitching Science, merges art and science in 27 intricate diagrammatic embroideries. A culmination of three years of work and countless stitches, these embroideries, each representing a letter of the alphabet, depict scientific concepts in a creative and accessible way. This exhibition coincides with Wright Vartanian's book release, Stitching Science: Exploring Science from A to Z, published by Firefly Books in the fall of 2024. Lauren Wright Vartanian is a multidisciplinary artist currently focusing on textile art. She has a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drawing and Painting from OCAD University, where she graduated in 2006. She has been creating and selling art under the name Neurons and Nebulas since 2016. Her work blends art and science in a way that is fun and educational, but also be
